

William Shure, a young man of Page, wandered away in the recent blizzard and has not yet been found. His parents are popular folks of that community, and much sorrow is in their home just now. Friends sympathize. The young man was an industrious student of the Iowa University, at Iowa City, Iowa, and was home on his holiday vacation.