

A meeting was held at the residence of E. J. McMahon on Monday evening, January 26, for the purpose of organizing a club for the study of Shakespere. There will be another meeting at the same place on Tuesday night, February 5 at 8 p. m. All persons interested in the subject and wishing to join the club, are cordially invited to be present, when the organization will be perfected. It was decided by those present to begin the course of study with Hamlet, and there will be several papers read on that subject at the next meeting.