The Latin Grammar class has completed their book and will have the remainder of the year for review. The class has done splendid work the entire year and are working diligently to secure as high a standing as possible.

The class in Cæsar has finished the fourth book and will now read the first book and review their Latin Grammar. This class has done splendid work since the beginning of this semester, and are encouraged to read Vergil and Cicero next year.

Arthur Patten has withdrawn from the eighth grade and will resume his duties on the farm.

Henry Gisvold has gone to Clifford to attend the Norwegian school.

The High School Entertainment for the benefit of the Library will be given Wednesday evening Feb. 30, and we trust it will receive the liberal patronage of the public. The prices are within the reach of each and all—Adults 25cts. and children 10cts. The Board of Education will have entire charge of proceeds and purchase all books.

The library is sadly in need of reference books on art, science and literature. Our fiction department is sufficient but all reference books used during the year have been taken from my private library.

Tickets will be on sale at the usual place Monday, March, 28th. Programme is as follows.

Small Farm Well Tilled.

J. H. Daniels, a Cass county farmer, has attracted the attention of the officials of the department of agriculture. Some years ago he bought a worn out farm of 20 acres, and he has improved it so that he is able to maintain four horses and about 40 cattle on it, and he makes it yield him a handsome income. Federal officials have been sent to study his methods. The secret of his success is in the adoption of the practice of sowing his cattle, and the application, of course, of business methods to every operation on his little farm.

News in Brief.

The old Gasal brewery at Jamestown was sold for $375. There is a lot of material in it, which will be worth about $1,000 when it is torn down.

Within the past 6 months over 1,000 homesteads have been taken in Stutsman county, and there is more than 40,000 acres of government land yet left to file on.

The order for a jury term of court in McLean county on March 28 has been canceled, as the snow is so deep that it will be impossible to summon the jurors in time.
