

A. G. Fick the genial and popular depot agent at this place was taken down today with typhoid fever. He had been around as usual attending to his duties during the forenoon but went to bed at noon. We sincerely hope that the attack will not prove serious.