GOOD WATER

After having spent a number hundred dollars endeavoring to procure good drinking water the citizens of Blabon have at last been rewarded and now report having one of the best town wells in this section of the country. The water problem has always been a great draw-back to our neighboring city on the north and the enterprising citizens of that place have expended considerable money in their endeavor to procure good drinking water and it was not until after repeated attempts that they were rewarded, and then at a great depth. They report having struck an inexhaustable supply of as fine drinking water as can be found any place in the state. The citizens are naturally rejoicing
