Marshal Pounded Up.

Last night there were quite a number in town who had been drinking some, and as a result, there was a row about 11 o'clock, and when Marshal Mitchell attempted to arrest one of them, he was knocked down and hammered up pretty badly. The marshal called for help, but fell before help got to him, and was picked up unconscious and taken to Needham's drug store and later to his room at Brown's hotel, where he was revived. In the meantime, four men supposed to be responsible for the attack were arrested and placed in village jail. Up to the time of going to press they are still in jail, and States Attorney Johnson was investigating the matter.—Finley Beacon.
