

Died Suddenly

Albert Pederson, who was farming the B. C. Shaw farm west of town, died very suddenly Saturday night of heart failure. He had been driving a binder all day Saturday and up to within a few hours of his death was apparently as well as any one. That evening shortly after supper he in company with some of the men were indulging in a social game of cards, when he was suddenly taken ill and in a very short time passed away. He was single man and a brother of Mrs. John McKay. The funeral was held from the house Monday. Interment was made in the Hope cemetery.
