

Mrs. Ann Wright

(From the Page Record)

Mrs. Ann Wright died at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. L. Pratt, in Galesburg, N. D., July 10th, 1907. She was of a most kind and generous disposition; aiding always those in need, by her gentle and quite sympathy and good deeds. To all her close friends and neighbors she was commonly known as Aunt Ann, a loving cognomen given by those who knew her worth and virtues. She was born in Ireland in 1822, migrating to America with her parents in 1858 and as her parents resided in Sandwich, Ill. she lived there with them until the time of their death, and after that making her home with her sister, Mrs. C. L. Pratt. At the time of her death she was in her 85th year, having lived out the more than allotted span of life and ready for the eternal home beyond.

She hath done what she could and God has taken her home full of years and good deeds done. Requisite in Peace. — K
