

Manley Evenson, E. C. Evenson's oldest boy, met with a serious accident Sunday forenoon. He was out hunting near the big slough four west of town when as he was climbing into the rig the shot-gun was accidentally discharged the shot striking his left hand. He drove home and his father at once hurried with him to Hannaford where the wound was dressed. C. J. Erlandson was telephoned for and he soon arrived with his automobile and Sunday afternoon took Manley, Mr. Evenson and Dr. Leslie to the Platou hospital at Valley City. The bones of the first two fingers on the left hand were so badly injured that it was found necessary to amputate the fore and middle fingers. Manley is still at the hospital and it is hoped that the wound will heal quickly. The boy was very gritty and endured the pain like a Spartan.
