

Mrs. Andrew Hamre died last Thursday after an illness of about ten weeks from consumption. She had been afflicted with the dread disease for about two years but was only taken real sick the past few weeks. She would have been 25 years old had she lived until this coming May. The funeral took place at the Lutheran church last Saturday afternoon, Rev. E. T. Silness conducting the services. The remains were interred in the Cooperstown cemetery.