

The Cooperstown fire department made a pretty good showing at the tournament at Wahpeton last week. They carried off first prize for the best appearing company in the parade, first prize in the association race, first prize in the hub and hub race, second prize in service race, second prize in combination race with Casselton and second and third prize in ladder climbing contest. Considering that the boys did not practice for the events only a few times we figure that they made a fine showing.
