and Tuesday to Take Advantage
Of the Meetings.

The farmers' institute for Griggs county convened Monday afternoon at the courthouse with standing room at a premium. It was a beautiful day and the farmers from all over the county came in to take part in the meetings. Prof. Hoverstad and Col. Wilkinson conducted the meetings. Monday afternoon there was a general discussion on alfalfa, clovers, corn and other crops and the farmers asked many questions and took a live interest in the meeting. The evening session was also well attended. Col. Wilkinson gave a splendid talk on education and Prof. Hoverstad gave another interesting talk on how to improve the home conditions. Tuesday morning was a general discussion along subjects of interest to the farmers. No set line is followed. Whenever some question is asked a general discussion follows and the farmers as well as the conductors get a chance to discuss the question. The institute ended early in the afternoon. The attendance was good and much interest and enthusiasm exhibited through all the sessions.
