trade that insures the importance of a department store. They occupy a commodious saleroom filled with a large and varied assortment of general merchandise... The importance of the place is shown by the products shipped from the station during the year 1904, as follows:

THE MAURER HOTEL. This town is better than usually supplied with good hotels, but the one we have in mind now is the Maurer Hotel, conducted by Mr. J. Maurer. This gentleman has had considerable experience in the hotel business and understands the wants of the traveling public.

FRED D. CANNON. Among the clever mechanics of this city are the electricians as well. Fred D. Cannon. This gentleman has been identified with this city for the past two years and his reputation as a high grade mechanic is well established.

OLAF S. QUAM. Blacksmiths are plentiful in this country, but few if any surpass Mr. Olaf S. Quam in the knowledge of the business. He is a workman of skill and ability and well respected by the very best of all kinds of material and every job that leaves his shop is fully warranted.

PIONEER MEAT MARKET. Lots of butchers know all about meats except how to cut them, but Mr. Henry Allison, the proprietor of the Pioneer Meat Market, is a different matter. He has conducted this shop for the past two years and has built up a most satisfactory trade.

HANNAFORD. This thriving city is located on the Cooperstown branch of the Pennsylvania and Erie and nine miles south of Cooperstown. It is credited with having a population of 120 people in 1900, while the census of the present year shows 215.

ANDERSON & REITE. The furniture trade of Hannaford is very extensive, permeating the whole of the surrounding country, and the firm is composed of Andrew Anderson and Christian Reite, two of the foremost business men of Hannaford.

dealing with customers they have succeeded in securing a long list of satisfied patrons. They carry a large and full line of furniture of all kinds, as well as a full line of home furnishing goods, and their prices are as low as the market.

JOHN BERG. This gentleman has made the avirring for thirteen years here, and his reputation for fine work is well established. He is a workman of high order and his shop is equipped with the latest improved machinery and labor saving devices.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK. There is no branch of business so essential to the prosperity of a city or community as a bank. The First National Bank of Hannaford fills every requirement and meets every want of this community in the banking line.

CLAUS JACKSON. A mercantile institution deserving special mention in these columns is the general store conducted by Mr. Claus Jackson. He has been in the business here for the past seven years and by applying the golden rule to trade principles he has built up a large and prosperous business.

OLMSTED & SINCLAIR. A business house of Hannaford ranking with the leading concerns of this country is the firm implement and furniture store of Olmsted & Sinclair.

E. H. GROVEN. This gentleman commenced business in a modest way here in the year 1898 and has by his own efforts and hard work built up a most successful business.

DAZEY BUSINESS MEN. Among the leading real estate firms operating in this section of the state is the firm of W. J. & L. Valley.

THURSTON & PRIDE. This firm is engaged in the business of general merchandise, hardware, and building materials. They carry a large and complete stock of goods, and their prices are as low as the market.

INTER-NATIONAL HOTEL. Among the well appointed hotels along the Cooperstown branch the Inter-National Hotel, conducted by Mr. P. Peterson, is entitled to favorable mention.

E. J. AUSTAD. This gentleman is one of the best harnessmakers who ever thrived a horse in Griggs county. He has been in the harness line for the past seven years and his reputation for fine work is more than local and brings him trade from a distance.

OLSON BROS. Elegance and comfort combined with good horse flesh and an essential to the up-to-date livestock man, and the rig and turnouts of the Hannaford Livery Stable, owned by Olson Bros., are readily appreciated by all.

DAZEY. Dazezy is a progressive little city just over our southern boundary, in Baynes county, and it is closely identified with the other branch towns of this section of the state.

W. J. & L. VALLEY. Among the leading real estate firms operating in this section of the state is the firm of W. J. & L. Valley.

NELSON & HEIMARK. The writer on the business establishment of this city comes away with the conviction that this institution is prepared to supply the wants of the public in all lines of general merchandise.

GULL RIVER LUMBER CO. This company has maintained a first class lumber yard in Dazezy ever since the town was established and has been a success factor in the advancement of the town.

SECURITY BANK OF DAZEY. Adequate banking facilities are absolutely necessary in this day and age, and the Security Bank of Dazezy meets this need in the line of the Security Bank of Dazezy.

O. O'PEGGARD & CO. A business firm of first rank doing business in Dazezy is that of O. O'peggard & Co., the well-known implement dealer.

CRANE-JOHNSON CO. The Crane-Johnson Co. operates a well-equipped lumber yard at this point and the magnitude and variety of the work they handle is such that they are in building construction.

MOSE. A small market place west of Binford on the "branch" having two elevators, one lumber yard, one coal and wood yard, one general store, one blacksmith shop, one hotel, one hardware store and machinery firm, and two feed stores.

WALUM. A siding known as Walum was established on the branch in the southern part of the county in 1905. Since then two elevators have been established there, also two general stores, a hardware store, hotel, dry line, lumber yard, livery and feed stable, and a blacksmith shop.

ELMER OFFEGARD. This gentleman has been in the butcher business here for the past six years, and at no time has his shop been more successful than now.

LAING & MICKELSON. Among the clever mechanics of this community special mention should be made of the firm of Laing & Mickelson, the well known blacksmiths.

LOVELL. Northwest of Cooperstown three and a half miles is Lovell siding. The only buildings are two elevators and a coal shed. Produce as follows was shipped last year:
