

Rev. and Mrs. O. D. Purinton went over to Page Thursday of last week. Mr. Purinton went over to preach the funeral sermon of Mrs. William Berry, who died last Wednesday from Bright's disease and paralysis. The deceased lady was one of the prominent citizens of Page, much loved and respected by a large circle of friends. She has lived at Page for many years and her influence for good in that community is great. She was a devout christian lady and a member of the Baptist church of Page. She was the aunt of B. A. Parsons and Clarence Martin, of this city, the latter going over to Page last Thursday to attend the funeral. The Courier editor and family who have been honored guests in the Berry home, deeply sympathize with the bereaved family. In the loss of this splendid lady is a sad blow to the home and the town of Page where her life's work has been for the advancement of all things that is good in a moral and religious way.
