

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Collette, who went away with their baby some days ago to get treatment for the baby's eyes, write back that the little one died recently of pneumonia. The Collettes are in Illinois and had encouraging words from the doctors to the effect that the baby's eyes could be cured, when it was taken sick and died. The friends of the family here sympathize with them in the hour of their affliction.