

DEATH OF YOUNG MOTHER

Mrs. I. C. Haugland Passed Away at Warwick Last Tuesday. Victim of Blood Poisoning.

The death of Mrs. I. C. Haugland occurred at Warwick on Tuesday. She lingered some two weeks after giving birth to a little son that brought on blood poisoning, but the best of medical care and nursing was of no avail, simply prolonged her life for the time being. She leaves a husband and the child, which bids fair to live. Deceased was but 25 years of age, at a time when a young mother is in the flower of her womanhood, and looks forward to the best there is in life. Pathetic it is she should be obliged to give her life at a time when life's greatest joy was to have been hers.

Mrs. Haugland was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Peterson and a sister of Mrs. Henry Holtan of this city, whom were present at the end. Others of the family, brothers and sisters, Curtis, Louis and Edward, and the Misses Ella, Agnes and Ruth, left Tuesday for Warwick to attend the funeral held today.

The sympathy of this community is extended the bereaved parents and family and to the husband and little son who will never experience the solicitious care of a loving mother.—Journal, Ryder, N. D.

The many friends of Mr. Haugland in Cooperstown and Griggs county will regret very much to hear of this deep sorrow that has befallen him and extend to him their sympathy.
