

might have been known by the doctor, then because there might have been talk with the doctor about a cold, or that it was good for one's throat when riding out in the wind or cold, or the further fact that liquor in such cases would be an appropriate remedy, would not be any defense.

"The defense in this case claims that under our law a physician can administer liquor himself in cases of actual need, under section 9358. In that behalf, gentlemen, I charge you, in the first place, that nowhere in the law is there found any authority for a doctor under such circumstances to take pay for liquor thus administered.

"And I charge you further that if you believe by evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that the doctor, the defendant herein, sold and delivered to any or either of the witnesses testifying in this case intoxicating liquor by the bottle, or otherwise, and that such liquor was carried away, that in no sense could such liquor be said to have been administered by the doctor.

"What the statute means by 'administering himself' is that it should be given or furnished to the patient, immediately in the presence of or under the personal direction of the physician, just as would be in the administering of a dose of calomel, or any other medicine, directly to the patient"

MELGARD-HAMMER.

On Wednesday evening, July 22, at 7 o'clock p. m., at the home of the bride's parents in this city, Rev. J. M. Jenson joined in wedlock Oswald Melgard and Josephine R. Hammer. The ceremony was witnessed only by immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The happy couple are both favorably known to the residents of Cooperstown and to the most of the people of Griggs county. The groom is a popular young man, having been born and raised in this county. He is an intelligent young man and gives promise of a great and useful career; he was for a time a student of St. Olaf college at Northfield, Minn.; he has attended a business college at Fargo, fully equipping himself for the line of work he has already pursued for a number of years; he was for a time engaged as stenographer and teller at the First National bank of this city. When he severed his connection with this bank he left the state and accepted a position in the First State bank at Claremont, S. D., as cashier, where he and his bride will make their home after Aug. 15. Mrs. Melgard is an amiable young woman, better known to the people of Cooperstown and surroundings than the writer can briefly give her credit for here. She belonged to the graduating class of '08 of the Cooperstown high school, doing credit to herself and to the class on the evening of the graduation. She was a member of the Lutheran church, an active teacher of the Sunday school and an interested worker in the young ladies' society of the church. Her modest and unassuming demeanor has won for her the love and respect of her many friends, who join in wishing her a happy and prosperous wedded life. * * *

FOR SALE OR TRADE

One Advance Threshing Rig all in fine condition. A 40-74 separator and a 30-horse Simple engine, cook car and fixtures and water tanks all ready for work; this rig has run only 30 days and in fine shape. Will take some trade and sell on easy terms. Also one 8-ft. Deering binder in good shape with trucks. Write or call on

J. F. TEAL

Mesmer's

Eastern Attractions: M

Miss Hattie Norton
Mr. Fred LaVell
Miss Grace Rooney
The Great D'ives
Miss Lynn Heingate
Mr. Chas. Thelaneer
Madam Elnora
Mesmer, the Mystic
Achmed All-Boy

Mesmer, the Mystic
and Big Company, at

Two Nights, Th

Change of Program, All New Show. Praised