

A very pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Andrew Morgan in Riverside township, Steele county, on Tuesday, November 2, at 10 a. m., when Mr. Morgan's cousin, Miss Annie B. Stuart was united in marriage with Mr. William C. Saunders. Both the contracting parties have been residents of Riverside for several years and are very highly respected members of that community. The bride is a native of Canada but for the last six years has made her home with the Morgans and is a most estimable young lady. The groom has spent a good share of his life at Riverside and is one of the successful farmers of that community and is a young man of excellent character. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Chas. Evans, pastor of the First Congregational church of Cooperstown. After a bountiful wedding breakfast the newly wedded couple left for their new home at Centralia, Washington where Mr. Saunders expects to engage in farming. The best wishes of their many friends at Riverside go with them as they begin their married life in their new home.
