

—The occasional and provoking delays of the mail will be remedied from now on, as regular railway mail service begins to-day, and hereafter the public will have a perfect right to complain when matters go amiss. The railroad has been magnanimous enough to carry the mail free, pending the formal establishment of a daily route, and are entitled to gratitude.