

The city council met Monday evening it being the first regular meeting for the year. W. H. Butler was re-elected president of the council and Theo. A. Marquardt vice-president. The Courier was designated as the official newspaper for the coming year. Mr. Nelson on behalf of the band boys appeared before the council and asked the use of the fire hall for band practice. The request was granted. An ordinance is on the way prohibiting the building of elevators without having them covered with iron. The various bills were allowed. Erickson Bros. were given the contract for doing the cement work for the city.