

The board of county commissioners were in session all of last week as a board of equalization. The canvassing board also sat and canvassed the returns of the recent primary election.