

E. E. Downe met with a painful accident Tuesday afternoon. While moving a heavy piece of machinery from the depot to his meat market the dray broke causing the machinee to topple over, catching Mr. Downe and pinning him beneath the weight of the machine, which weighs a ton and a half. It caught him across the stomach, legs and chest. He is in bed but just how serious he is hurt has not been determined as yet. The Courier hopes that Mr. Downe's injuries are not serious and that he will soon recover.
