

Passed Away.

The community will be very sorry to learn that Edwin Bloeyer, who used to live in the Newell House and is well known among our young people died at McHenry on Monday morning at 3 o'clock, the cause of death being typhoid fever. He suffered from this fatal malady for about seven weeks, after which this promising bud was transferred to a fairer garden, away from the storms and ills of life. The remains were brought down from McHenry on Wednesday afternoon's train, accompanied by the sorrowing relatives and friends, interment being made in the Cooperstown cemetery.
