

The funeral of John Kalvik took place Sunday. He was buried at the Union church cemetery. John Kalvik came from Norway several years ago and found a homestead one and a half miles east of Hannaford. He has always been a hard working industrious man until the last few years his health has been poorly. Last winter the doctor informed him that he had consumption and July 28 he died, leaving a wife and five children to mourn his death.

---