COLGATE.

C. D. Gray, of Page; and Seth Curry, of Bellvyrria, were in town one day this week. They were looking over the situation and probably concocting new tricks in trade.

H. Harness is back again on the King estate and is putting in the crop.

W. H. Furlong will make it rough on dogs if seen smelling around his sheep. It will would kindly remove his female dog from the premises we fancy the trouble would end.

Our R. R. is being improved by the putting in of new ties and a general leveling up. John Scires is a rustler and understands his work.

W. L. Dorrance is doing a large trade with his horse all through this part of the country.

S. F. Pope, has started a herd and we feel greatly relieved since he has taken the stock that roamed at large from here.

H. S. Curry is building a fine new addition to his house and will have every thing very handy when completed.

The boys are rustling the farm work and will soon be through.
