

---

The weather during the past week has been very fine, but the nights have been remarkably cold for this season of the year, ice having formed nearly every night; crops never looked better, and the outlook up to the present time is very encouraging.

---