

WIKER.

—Art Mootie started with a lady friend for a trip last Sunday and on the way happened to hard luck. The horse he was driving became mired in the mud in a low place along the road and Art was compelled to get out to his waist in the mud in order to get the animal out. The horse and buggy were at last extricated, but not until Art had spoiled his 'best clothes.'