

Fatal Well Accident.

Valley City Times Record: Friday morning, Nick Mikkelsen, who lives about two and one half miles west of Sanborn, was engaged in stowing up a well. About nine o'clock, the wall caved and buried him under at least a ton of stone. He was taken out at one o'clock and it was found the right leg was broken in two places, also the left arm. Dr. DeVaux was called. The injured man was removed to the county hospital Saturday, and although he had the best of attention, he died Monday morning at one o'clock.
