

Carl Anderson, who has been working for Andrew Paulson for some time, was thrown from his horse on Friday, the 18th inst., and came in contact with a barb wire fence, cutting a gash extending over the nose to the cheek bones, making it necessary to put in five stitches. Dr. Bergstrom, of Cooperstown, was the physician in charge.

---