

While sawing wood last Monday, Sandy Henderson got to mixing things with the buzz saw. It resulted in his being defeated in a jiffy and retiring with an ugly gash on his little finger near the hand. Dr. Bergstrom happened to be on the south bound train and dressed the hand without an amputation.