The masquerade last Thursday night, given by the Woodman lodge, was a grand success. Fully 100 couples, including many from Wimbledon, Leal and Haunaford were in attendance. The music was furnished by the Valley City orchestra. The affair was ably managed by J. M. Col-lard, who called, and, with his wife, lead the grand march: S. J. Russell was appointed special police to keep order. A fine supper was served at Hotel LaRue. The Woodmen will erect a four thousand dollar building next summer. Over half has already been subscribed.

A masquerade ball will be held at Haunaford Friday night.

Mrs. O. S. Knudson and son, Clevis, are back from a visit with friends and relatives in the east.

Mr. Berker, of Griggs county, was seen on our streets the other day.

Mr. Little purchased a team from Mr. Parker the other day. Mr. Little is pushing right to the front, having lately purchased three quarter sections of land near Bald hill creek.

Mrs. Tom Stee is on the sick list.
