Rain! Blessed rain!

It rained better than gold dollars into the farmers' pockets the other day.

Nearly every farmer in this vicinity have finished seeding their wheat and are busy seeding oats and barley and plowing for flax. This is the earliest spring we have had for a number of years.

O. H. West's machinery hall is under cover and fast nearing completion. It will be quite an improvement to the town.

The Monarch Elevator Company are getting the material on the ground for their new elevator.

Dr. Stover has the addition to his house completed.

The Gull River Lumber Company will erect new lumber sheds here this summer. We have not learned the dimensions but understand they will be good sized ones.

Ole Elverum was seen speeding south, Friday. Rumor says he was heading for the metropolis of Barnes county.

O. H. Hanson returned from a sojourn in the southern part of the state, Wednesday. He says the farmers are just as far along with their work here as they are down there.

Hans Oppegaard has purchased another half section of land. Hans is one of those who believe in the future of Barnes county.

Anton Satre has also purchased another quarter section. That's right, gentlemen, take it while you can get it; it may soon be too late.

- There is a scarcity of pasturage for stock around here this year, on account of land being bought up and broken. We predict that it will be only a short time until farmers in this country will have to seed part of their land to grass instead of turning the grass under as they are doing now. —Rustler.
