

Nels Johnson and Axel Anderson on Monday morning from the Canadian northwest after having spent a couple of weeks investigating conditions in the land of the king. They traveled over a large section of that country and liked it so well that they purchased a section of land as an investment.