

School Notes

Unless there are some new developments, the Courtenay school basket ball teams will go to Carrington Friday morning.

The drawing materials are now here and the pupils of the high school began the regular work Thursday.

Frank Hoffman, Forest Horn and Bert Stuart, who were recently enrolled, are among the new recruits on the basket ball squad.

The high school pupils began work in business methods this week.

After practice last Saturday afternoon the girls' basket ball teams assembled at the photographer's and had their pictures taken.

Clarence Edwards is among those recently enrolled in the high school.

The basket ball management is negotiating for games with second teams of the Valley City Normal.

Monthly examinations are being conducted in the different rooms this week.

Gladys Syvertson was enrolled in the third grade this week.

The second year English class have just completed the work required in versification. At the close of the work the teacher required short productions by the members of the class. The following were among the papers handed in:

A SERIOUS AFFAIR

As all of us were asked to write
A poem for Thursday noon,
I might get wise enough in time
But not so very soon.

Since teacher asked to write a poem,
I thought I'd take my English home.
I know my poem will not come,
In rank with one of Tennysons.
And now I think it is time to stop
Before my brains are shaken up.

AFTER THE GAME

The game had begun in the evening
And joyously all the while
The Carrington boys ran down
Courtenay,
And the Carrington girls were all smiles.

But after the game was over,
All the Carrington faces looked sad,
While Courtenay laughed and yelled
at them,
We really think it's too bad.
