

Charles Hendrickson returned yesterday morning from Sweden where he had been since before Christmas visiting his aged parents. He was accompanied back by three of his sister's daughters who will make their home in this country in the future. Mr. Hendrickson reports things as rather slow in the old country and says there is no attraction there for him any more except his father and mother.