

John Stachlowski and Jake Bartkowski are among the latest North Dakota Farmers to get the Canadian fever and on Saturday evening left for Sunny Southern Alberta to look over the country and if they find it suitable will perhaps purchase a chunk of King Edward's domain.