News, Sept. 11—Millard Shefler was taken to St. John's hospital at Fargo last week, suffering from an attack of typhoid fever. Mr. Kribbs accompanied him there and returned the first of the week. Later reports are that he is getting along nicely.

Dr. C. E. Simmons, veterinary, returned the first of the week from Miles City, Mont., where he had been practising for several weeks. "Doc" is well pleased with conditions in that city and may decide to locate there at some future time.

Prof. E. L. Kuhnes returned to Wimbledon Saturday evening after spending his summer vacation in the east. Mr. Kuhnes has been retained as principal of the public schools for another year, and is arranging matters for the opening of school next Monday.

The books for the public library are expected daily and the reading rooms will probably be opened early next week. For the present, the committee has arranged for a room at Mallough's furniture store. We hope to give our readers more definite information in our next issue.

Charley Reick, the 9-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Reich, residing on a farm near Spiritwood lake, had the misfortune Tuesday to break his right leg in two places just above the ankle. The boy was driving a team hitched to a stone boat which had a broken board and he accidentally stepped on this board and his foot went through, caught on the ground and turned completely around. He certainly was a gritty little fellow as he drove to the house after the accident a distance of more than half a mile.
