

several weeks.

There was a daylight hold-up at Dazey Wednesday when about a hundred farmers attacked a coal train. The train crew had set out a car of lignite but the people were determined to have a better grade and supply and when the train started out the farmers climbed the cars, set the brakes and proceeded to load their sleighs. It is reported there was great excitement in the village for a time.—Wimbledon News.