
KENSAL ITEMS

Journal, Dec. 6—Mrs. C. J. Croonquist visited at Wimbledon Monday and on her return stopped between trains at Courtenay to visit Mrs. Horn who is reported very sick.

Joe Nogosek returned from his Wisconsin visit Thanksgiving day. During his absence, one of his best horses met with some horse trouble that ended in the animal's death.

Ed Waller was down to the store a number of times last week. His ankle must be better or else he has had it sprained before because he walks as spry as anyone possibly could on three feet.

On Wednesday, of this week, Miss Etta Nettie Thompson and Henry Kirsch went to Jamestown to be married on Thursday. They are prominent young people living in the vicinity of Kensal. We wish them success and happiness during the course of their married life.
