

Kensal Items

Journal, June 27—Wm. Armstrong is at present laid on the shelf with a severe attack of quinsy.

Mrs. H. Hyland and the children left Friday for their old home in Michigan where they expect to visit for a few months,

John Nihil shipped a carload of machinery and one team of horses to Mountian Home, Idaho, Saturday. Joe Novak was in charge of the car. He also shipped another car yesterday with Gordon Bruneau in charge.

Ed Horn this week sold his farm north of town to Messers Shogkley and Strong. Consideration $30 per acre. We are not informed as to Mr. Horn's future movements, but the prospects are he will become a citizen of Carrington.

Carl J. Norheim, who lives about three miles northeast of Kensal, lost his barn Saturday evening, it being struck by lightning which set it on fire. He had one team of horses in the barn at the time, which he succeeded in getting out. The barn which was one of the largest in the vicinity, and but recently built, was entirely consumed together with some hay, feed, and machinery. The loss entailed will aggregate $3,000.

Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peterson, died at the home of his parents in Kensal, Monday, June 24, aged 7 years, 11 months, after a short illness, having taken a cold while affected with a mild form of chicken pox.

Geo. House, a prominent young farmer north of town sprang a surprise on his friends Friday by returning home from Carrington, where he had gone with the avowed intention of taking in the circus, with a bride. The young lady in question being Miss Kate Miller of Moorhead, Minneasota.