

Pleasant View Notes

The weather in this neck of the woods is fine and people are taking advantage of it in hauling grain and getting ready for winter when it comes.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Wilson of Rogers were visiting friends in this vicinity last week. Mr. Wilson is one of the old pioneers of Barnes county, having come to Valley City 27 or 28 years ago. He has seen North Dakota develop into the grandest state in the west and has stayed right in Barnes county and is now living on easy street, sitting under his own vine and fig tree in peace and plenty.

Miss Lucy McWethy came up on Wednesday from Valley City where she is attending the Valley City Normal school. Glad to see you, Miss Lucy.

Mr. Gad of Dazey made a flying trip in his auto on Sunday, looking after his farming interests in this vicinity. Mr. Gad is a scorcher when it comes to running an auto and four-footed quadrepeds give him a wide berth. Our old friend, Mac Turner, accompanied Mr. Gad and the wind blew through Mac's whiskers.

It is whispered that wedding bells are about to ring for a young lady who used to live in this vicinity but who now resides in Courtenay. Well, such is life, for the Good Book says that it is not good that man and young ladies should live alone.

Alfred Olson, who taught the Bemis school the past school year, intends to leave shortly for Wisconsin where he contemplates a university course. Mr. Olson will be much missed in this vicinity. Well, when the roses bloom again, we will see you for you can't stay away.

Preaching services were conducted by Rev. Kline on Sunday evening at the Free Methodist
