

John Syvertson returned Wednesday morning from Brainerd, Minn., where he had been in the hospital for a week or two. The doctors found that he was suffering from an ulcer of the stomach and it was necessary to perform an operation to relieve him. The operation was successful and he will be all right again in a short time.