

The jovial countenance of John Klimeck was illuminated with that smile that won't come off last Monday morning, the cause being jocularly ascribed to the fact that the stork had left a fine baby girl on last Sunday to brighten the home of the happy family. John reports that all concerned are getting along nicely.