

---

News reached here Monday that a brother of Sigurd Berg died at Cooperstown at the ripe old age of 88. Sigurd Berg, who makes his home with his son Rollef Berg of this place, is an older brother, having passed the ninety-first milestone and, though somewhat feeble in health, bids fair to add several years to his already ripe old age.

---