

J. H. SEVERN DEAD

Jamestown, Sept. 29.—John H. Severn, of Jamestown, one of the most widely known and best beloved citizens in this section of the state, died last evening at Kensal, while enroute from that place to Jamestown. Mr. Severn is a pioneer resident of Stutsman county, and for several years farmed south of the city. He was sheriff of this county for several terms, and mayor of Jamestown for six years.

He was postmaster of Jamestown preceding the present postmaster, and has held a number of county and city offices at different times.

Mr. Severn has been in ill health for two years last past, and his death was the result of a number of complications resulting in heart trouble. He leaves a wife and four children.
