

CHICAGO TRIBUNE FOR THE WEEK.

A. R. Brimer Jr. and wife came over from Sanborn, where he owns and operates a farm, last Sunday for a brief visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Reid. Mr. Brimer had a serious accident happen to him last summer which came near being fatal. While loading hay before a thunder storm a bolt of lightning struck the fork handle in his hand, breaking the handle and the dropping fork tines nearly hit the pupil of an eye. It was weeks before he entirely recovered but he considered himself fortunate to escape instant death.