

John Jensen had the misfortune Saturday to get one of his fingers caught in the grain elevator on a threshing rig owned by Max Donat, lacerating that useful member to such an extent as to necessitate amputation from the first joint. Though the accident is not a serious one it will lay him up for several weeks. Mr. Jensen came from Chicago last spring and has been employed during the past season on the farm of Herman Schneider.

p
t

t d
o
n c
s
c

t
n
F