

---

The John Kasper family, who have undergone a hard siege of typhoid fever, are all recovering nicely and are up and around, though it will require some time before their former health will be entirely recovered.

---