

D. A. Langworthy suffered a severe accident on Tuesday of this week which came very near ending his life. He tried to drive a cow off a gangway or platform where they unload grain into the granary and in some way the cow managed to shove him over the edge and he fell to the ground several feet below, the effects of the fall rendering him unconscious for a time. Dr. Macdonald was summoned and when he reached there he discovered that one of his cheek bones was broken and he was otherwise bruised up. Mr. Langworthy is a very active man for his years and manages his large farm in Corinne township although he is lame as the result of an accident a couple of years ago when he fell from the tower of the wind mill and broke his leg. It is to be hoped that no serious complications will result from this fall and that he will soon be able to be around again.
