

Fred Zollner has traded his livery barn in Courtenay to A. M. White for the Frank Lawrence farm north of town and Mr. White has already taken possession of the barn and Fred will soon move out to the farm and go to farming. Mr. Zollner has also traded off the electric light plant at Wimbledon for a quarter section of land near Portal and will give his entire attention to his farming interests. Mr. White will be remembered as the gentleman who had possession of this same barn for a time last spring and sold it to Mr. Zollner, and made a good many friends at that time who will be glad to see him back in business in Courtenay. Mr. Zollner is an up-to-date livery man and has made a success of the business since he took possession of it last spring.
